Full Time Commander-in-Chief

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the War department's star witness in the case it is making for permanent unity of military command, has taken sharp exception to the assertion that no man is big enough to head a national department of defense. If this were true, he points out, no man would have the capacity to assume the presidency of the United States.

The fact is that unity of the armed services would give the Army, Navy and Air Forces the permanent benefit of the cooperation without which all qualified experts agree there could have been no victory in the war. There was unity of command during wartime by necessity. Franklin D. Roosevelt as commander-in-chief performed somewhat the same function proposed for a secretary of defense.

But Mr. Roosevelt performed only as an emergency secretary of defense. He was clearly not abreast of the job at the outbreak of the war. The coordination that was achieved came the hard way, through trial and error. And when it did come, it had to buck the precedent of independence in the Army and Navy, which combined to buck the Air Forces. The United States has too much at stake in the efficient cooperation of its costly fighting services to depend on a part-time commander-in-chief. It is a full-time job. Harry Truman and his successors can't be expected to fit into wartime routines. Mr. Roosevelt fitted it into his wartime routine at the expense of duties which either were not performed at all, or were turned over to subordinates, sometimes with effects that left a lot to be desired.

No one has proposed an alternative to unity of military command, other than the one demonstrated where unity did not exist. The opposition is losing its case in the court of public opinion.

Deep Sea Fishing

There is a public duty, or should be, as the Pearl Harbor deep sea fishing expedition gets under way in Washington to remember at all times the legitimate aim of the investigation.

It is to determine as closely as possible who was primarily responsible for a military disaster that crippled the United States seriously, on Dec. 7, 1941.

It is to remove the implication of major guilt laid too freely and too hastily on the service commanders on the scene at the time—Admiral Kimmel and Gen. Short.

It is to fill in the diplomatic and strategic background of a historic event for the American public, which never has been given the complete story of what happened and which properly insists on its right to know.

The investigation inevitably is in the hands of politicians, some of whom have shown signs of greater devotion to political expediency than objective truth. The press and radio, of course, are responsible for keeping the spotlight turned on the behind-scenes moves by the political elements involved.

The investigation probably will be long. Certainly it will be exciting in some of its passages. But there should be no judgment until all the evidence has been heard. It is possible that some disturbing facts will be hauled out of the Pearl Harbor depths—but none more disturbing than the revelation four years ago that Japan could strike so telling a blow at American security without encountering anything more than nominal resistance.

Even the Legend Was Faky

Adolf Hitler's shrewdly publicized political character in Germany was that of a zealot denying himself a natural life for the service of his cause. Hitler was depicted to the Germans and to the world as a leader practicing spartan frugality and continence in all things, apparently because this suited Germany's desperate appetite for dictatorial control and development of a military state. The legend that was constructed by propaganda as a backdrop for the fuhrer principle was high-lighted with details of the Hitler diet, personal sacrifices, disregard for money, tireless devotion to work and, of course, his bachelorhood.

The Eva Braun disclosures, reaching a climax in the discovery of at least part of the treasure Hitler bestowed on his mistress, dispose of the Hitler legend outside Germany. Perhaps they will ruin it inside Germany, too, particularly if there is no refutation of the circumstantial evidence that Hitler, besides being a furtive lover, also was a furtive father. Germans know now as the world knows that virtually everything in the Hitler era either started with a false assumption or ended in a wrong conclusion. Even the legend of the leader was fakery. Hitler was a rabble rouser and pariah backed by unscrupulous minorities that hoped to use him for their own purposes. Civilization owes it to itself to break down his legend before the remnants are entrusted to history.

Gen. de Gaulle Too

If Gen. de Gaulle must yield in France to the political power of its Communist minority, which has won enough seats in the Constituent Assembly to block any coalition not of its making, the leadership that shaped national policy in World War II will be all but liquidated.

Winston Churchill has been reduced to a party functionary in the House of Commons. Franklin D. Roosevelt did not live to see the end of the war. Josef Stalin apparently has begun the long-awaited step of yielding to a successor without waiting for the exigency of his death to precipitate a scramble for power. The oddly assorted little men who bubbled into brief prominence as puppets of the third class powers while Germany held sway have drifted back into obscurity. Mussolini is dead. Hitler is unaccounted for and presumed dead. Hirohito and his regime are in prison or in leading strings. Chiang Kai-shek remains, but his postwar troubles are manifold. And in Spain there is still Franco.

It would be brash to say that the wartime leadership, having made history, is through. Strange things happen in politics. On the eve of World War II and during the war itself the names of leadership were sharply reminiscent of the names it used in World War I. The moving tide that sweeps away sweeps back—and on its crest one day soon many of the familiar names may return. But for the present, they are all but out of sight.

Who'll Do K. P.?

War Secretary Patterson put forth a persuasive plea for universal military training the other day when he disclosed the strange plight of our peacetime army. It seems that, with the way things are shaping up at present, it's going to be an army of sergeants and officers. The privates just aren't re-enlisting.

It seems doubtful that even in the age of the atomic bomb, mechanization and intense specialization, an army can be run without the humble dough-foot. For one thing, who's going to peel the spuds and police the camp and do all the other jobs that a noncom wouldn't lay hand to? It's a dilemma, even in peacetime.

Obviously, Mr. Wallace's era of the common man hasn't yet arrived in military circles. And obviously something will have to be done about it.

The Stars Say

For Tuesday, November 20.

A PARTICULARLY lively and promising state of affairs is indicated by the predominant lunar and mutual aspects. It is probable that some especially brilliant or unique idea, perhaps visionary, imaginary or elusive, born of intuition or hunches, might stimulate to shrewd and sagacious procedures.

Nonetheless a sudden and unpredictable upheaval may upset all plans and hopes. But shrewd decisions, keen insight and the aid of secret friends or advisers might eventually see great expectations realized happily.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are on the threshold of a realization of secret hopes and important objectives, in which far vision, exceptional creative skills or talents, or possibly some brilliant idea, with intuition or startling hunches play a significant role.

However, it will take much sound consideration, supported by wise counsel of shrewd friends or organizations, to sidestep a devastating or surprising turn of events and wrest concrete results from strange adventure. Shun impetuosity and emotional decisions.

A child born on this day will be deep, shrewd, seeing matters from inner or profound well-springs, perhaps intuitions, visions or hunches, winning success and happiness against reverses or strange upsets.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Disorders of Skin Caused by Allergy

BY HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

SKIN disorders may arise from a variety of causes. One of the most common causes is allergy or oversensitivity to something with which the person comes in contact. One type of skin condition which is thought to be due to allergy is known as chronic urticaria or hives. Persons with hives may also have angioneurotic edema, a condition in which various parts of the body become swollen due to a collection of fluid in them.

Doctor James H. Black of Dallas, Texas, over a three-year period treated more than 300 patients with chronic urticaria and angioneurotic edema. A careful study was made in all instances to determine, if possible, the substances to which these persons might be sensitive.

Other Infections

A search was also made for infections such as might be present in the teeth, tonsils and elsewhere in the body and these were eliminated when found. The methods of treatment mentioned above brought relief to about half of the patients.

The remainder were treated with vitamin K. Almost three-fourths of these patients were women and nearly all of them were young and middle-aged to adults. The urticaria had been present for from one month to twenty years.

Daily Attack

Most of the patients had an attack practically every day. The Vitamin K was given by mouth. At first only small doses were employed, but later on the amount was increased until the quantity was found which would give results. The preparation was taken three times a day before meals.

As you may know, vitamin K is needed so that the blood may clot properly. It is possible, by making a test known as the prothrombin time determination, to ascertain whether or not a vitamin K deficiency is present.

More than three-fourths of those who had deficiency of prothrombin were relieved by the vitamin K treatment. In those in whom the prothrombin time was normal only about one-third were relieved of urticaria by the vitamin K.

Of the patients relieved by treatment, almost a third had relapses following periods of freedom from the hives of from two weeks to eight months. A second course of treatment brought about prompt relief in every instance.

Quick Healing

As a general rule, the treatment was continued for from one to four weeks but in many instances, the disorder cleared up after two days of treatment.

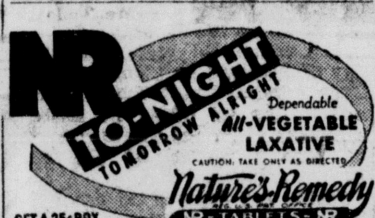

It would appear that in persons with chronic urticaria or hives in whom there is evidence of a vitamin K deficiency, the administration of vitamin K will bring good results in relieving the hives.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
W. I.: Is it safe to use penicillin salve without a doctor's direction? I have an eye infection.

Answer: It would be better for you to use penicillin salve as your physician directs. There are some conditions in which penicillin may help and others in which it may not be of any value. Your doctor will decide.

A. E. K.: Can you please tell me why tartar forms around the bottom of the teeth even though they are brushed daily? Is there anything that removes it?
Answer: Just why tartar forms around the teeth is not definitely known. There seems to be no way known of getting rid of it except to have it removed by the dentist.

Dr. Bundesen will answer letters containing medical questions only through his column. Address your inquiries to Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, 235 E. 45th st., New York City.

Crescent Machine Remodeling Begins

LEETONIA, Nov. 18.—A remodeling and expansion program which will give considerable more floor space at the Crescent Machine Co. plant has been started by the Neils Construction Co. of East Liverpool. The project calls for combining all of the company's present buildings and utilizing the ground area between the buildings for floor space. The addition will be of steel, concrete and brick.

The current project is only a start on the long-term expansion planned by the company. The remodeling job is expected to be completed in January.

Twenty-one veterans of World War II are employed by the Crescent Machine, many of whom are working at their old jobs. Of the 21 vets now on the payroll, 19 have received their discharges and two are home on 45-day furloughs.

NEW RAT POISON BOON TO MANKIND

Deadly New Chemical Is Even Relished By Rodents

BY HARRISON HUMPHRIES
WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 — The answer to one of mankind's greatest scourges—bubonic plague—may be in an innocent looking white powder.

The powder is the new rat poison 1080 (ten-eighty). Its chemical name is sodium fluoracetate. It gets its numerical designation because it was the 1,080th chemical compound tested in the government's two-year wartime search for an effective weapon against diseasespreading rodents.

It kills rats quicker than any known poison except strychnine which must be imported and—amazingly—rats like the stuff.
Strychnine has to be disguised.

Deadly Foe of Man
All authorities agree that the rat is man's wildest and most dangerous animal foe.

Bubonic plague, transmitted to man by the fleas that infest rats, is estimated to have killed more humans than all the wars in history.

A form of the plague has been found in several different types of rodents in the western states, including ground squirrels, wood rats, deer mice and woodchucks. Poison 1080 is deadly to all of these and is equally effective in a wide variety of baits and in water.

Other rat-borne diseases extremely disabling to man are typhus fever, spirochetal jaundice, rat-bite fever, rabies and tularemia.
In addition, rats infect other animals with diseases communicable to man and are believed responsible for many livestock disease fatalities.

Property damage caused by rats in the United States alone is estimated by officials of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service at more than $200,000,000 a year.

Rats attack packaged food in storehouses, spoiling much more than they actually eat. They gnaw and ruin fabrics and upholstery in dry goods and furniture stores. On farms they kill lambs, pigs and chickens, eat their way into flour and grain bags and spill or foul the contents.

Equal Persons In Number

The Fish and Wildlife Service estimates that there are nearly as many rats in the United States as there are persons. On farms there are about 60,000,000 rats. They cause property loss estimated at $1 a year for each rat.

With the outbreak of the war, supplies of the customary poisons used in rodent control—thallium, red squill and strychnine—were curtailed or cut off. Thallium was imported from Europe, principally Germany, Belgium and France;
red squill from the Mediterranean

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

region and strychnine from the Far East.

It was for this reason that the government, with the Office of Scientific Research and Development and the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service cooperating, began its search for a new domestic rat poison which resulted in the development of 1080.

The monthly meeting of the Elizabeth class of Trinity Lutheran church was held at the church Wednesday evening with Mrs. Rose Woods and Mrs. Eva Slack, associate hostesses.

Mrs. Walter Berg had charge of the meeting and Mrs. William Grim led the devotionals with a discussion on "Rachael." The entertainment was in charge of Mrs.

Wilbert DeJane.

A coverdish dinner at 6:30 p. m.
will be enjoyed at the Christmas party Dec. 12, with an exchange of gifts.

Mrs. George Stouffer was hostess to Five Hundred club members Wednesday evening. Mrs. Keith DeJane was a guest.

Honors were awarded to Mrs.
Keith DeJane, Mrs. Albert Weikart and Mrs. Louis Stouffer. The club will be entertained in the home of Mrs. Louis Stouffer in two weeks.

Approximately a million men will

Avon Holt, Clyde Letcher Wed At Presbyterian Church

Beautiful in appointment, yet characterized by simplicity, was the candlelight service in which Miss Avon May Holt of Salem became the bride of Clyde W. Letcher of Birmingham, Ala., at 11 a. m. Saturday in the First Presbyterian church. Dr. R. D. Walter officiated, using the double ring ceremony.

Palms and bouquets of white chrysanthemums enhanced the chancel which was lighted with white tapers in tall seven-branch candelabra, on either side.

Miss Anna Cooke, church organist, played a program of nuptial music while the guests assembled. The coming of the bride was announced by the bridal chorus from Lohengrin. Mendelssohn's wedding march was used for the recessional. In the bridal procession the ushers, Dale Wellington of East Liverpool, and Gordon Hise of Salem, preceded Miss Eileen Peel of Sharon, Pa., maid of honor. The bride walked with her father, D. G. Holt, who gave her in marriage. They met the groom and his best man, John O'Hear of Pittsburgh, at the altar.

The bride chose for her wedding an aqua crepe street length dress. She wore a brown felt hat trimmed in sequins and harmonizing accessories. Her bouquet of white roses was tied with white ribbon.

Miss Peel appeared in a rose colored costume with matching accessories and carried a bouquet of yellow baby mums tied with yellow maline.

Dinner Is Held

A dinner was served at the Lape hotel for 22 relatives and friends. A three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom formed the centerpiece on the table, which was made attractive with white chrysanthemums and white tapers in crystal holders.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Holt, of N. Ellsworth ave., is a graduate of the Birmingham, Ala., High school, the University of Alabama and Ohio State university. She is teacher of home economics at Fitch High school in Austintown.

Mr. Letcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde W. Letcher of Birmingham, Ala., is a discharged veteran. He served with the fourth Marine division. Before entering the service he attended Alabama Polytechnical Institute.

After a honeymoon trip the couple will live at 1309 N. Ellsworth ave. Mr. Letcher will be employed by the E. W. Bliss Co.

Among the guests were Mrs. Letcher and Mrs. Elsie Campbell of Birmingham, Ala., mother and sister, respectively, of the groom, and Mrs. Dale Wellington of East Liverpool.

Mr. and Mrs. Hise entertained at a reception for the bridal party Friday evening at their home on Franklin st.

Youth Fellowship Meets At Dr. Scott Home

Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Scott entertained members of the Methodist Youth fellowship at a supper last night at their home on S. Lincoln ave.

Places were arranged for 48 guests. Following a devotional meeting the young people were interested in games.

The Salem group will be hosts at a sub-district meeting of Methodist young people tonight at the church.

It will open with a recreational period in the church parlors, followed by an evangelist service with Dr. Scott the speaker. Seventy-five young people are expected from Lisbon, Winona, East Rochester and Damascus.

Meeting Is Called For Legion Auxiliary

The American Legion auxiliary will meet at 8 p. m. Tuesday at the Legion home, E. State st. Lunch and a social hour have been planned. All members are urged to attend.

James Trotter of Orlando, Fla., is a guest of his aunt, Miss Lida Trotter of S. Lincoln ave.

Anne Davis, F. J. Schmid Are Married

Wearing an attractive ice blue street length dress trimmed in silver sequins; a silver sequins calot with a black veil, and carrying a bouquet of orchids and bevardia, Anne Davis became the bride of Frederick John Schmid at 2:30 p. m. Saturday in the Emmanuel Lutheran church. The pastor, Rev. John Bauman, read the double ring ceremony.

An embankment of palms, ferns and bouquets of white chrysanthemums, lighted by white tapers in tall white seven-branch candelabra made a lovely setting for the service.

Mrs. W. J. Seeman, church organist, aunt of the groom, played the wedding music, and accompanied Mrs. Frank Diehl, who sang, "Because" and "Always."

Miss Betty Bichsel was maid of honor and Clarence Schmid served as best man. Miss Bichsel appeared in a deep rose crepe street length dress with black accessories and carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

The ushers were Robert Umberger and Paul Bloer.

Mrs. Skorupski, mother of the bride, wore a brown and gold colored dress and a corsage of Talismans roses, while the groom's mother, Mrs. Schmid, was dressed in fuchsia green and wore a corsage of yellow roses.

A reception was held at the home of the brides parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Skorupski on Summit st., with approximately 60 in attendance.

The refreshment table was decorated with a bouquet of white pompons and maiden hair fern and white tapers in crystal holders. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Among the guests were Mrs. John Mickunas of Philadelphia; Mrs. Mart Bramlett and Mrs. William Flora of Akron; Mr. and Mrs. George Foreman of Springfield and Mrs. Catherine Sieberg of Massillon.

The bride, a graduate of Salem High school, is employed at Trol's store.

Mr. Schmid, a discharged veteran, was graduated from Salem High school and attended Ohio State university. He is employed by the Salem Engineering Co.

Leetonia Wins Claim To Ohio Class B Title By 46-6 Score

Mancuso, Duco, Dominic's Performances Mark Bears' Win Over Copley Saturday

Leetonia's grid machine, coached by Charlie Mather, perked its effective "T" pot into a terrific boil at Reilly stadium Saturday night and rolled over previously unbeaten and untied Copley, of near Akron, to the pleasant tune of 46 to 6.

Although estimates of the crowd ranged from 5,000 to 8,000, there actually were few more than 4,500 in the rain-soaked stadium.

Copley definitely realized something was "cooking" Saturday. They found that out shortly after they marched 31 yards in the early minutes of the game, following a poor Leetonia kick, to score and lead the Bears 6-0.

The complexion of the game was rosy for Copley rooters then, but the glow was short-lived.

Coach Mather's Bears roared back with a touchdown and an extra point just three plays after the subsequent kickoff, to lead 7-6. Not content with a one point advantage, the Bears added seven more in the first frame, six in the second, 14 in the third and 12 in the final.

The battle, tagged as the Ohio Class B title fray, should erase doubts of Leetonia's right to claim Ohio's small school championship.

Had Top Record
Copley boasted one of the finest small school records in the state and was sure enough of its power to accept Leetonia's challenge after two other unbeaten B outfits—Lowellville and Elda—had refused post-season invitations from the Bears.

In winning Saturday, the ninth time in 10 games this season, Leetonia again displayed the talents of a well balanced offensive and defensive aggregation.

Improved 100 per cent over their first appearances of the 1945 season, the Bears showed an offense comparable to any in the district and the stopping powers were equally as brilliant.

Mancuso Stars
Standout events of Saturday's headline attraction here featured the terrific snatches of passes by End Pat Mancuso, a 135-pound Leetonia senior.

The lanky but sturdy left side man scored three times for six points and collected an extra point on a pass just for good measure.

Despite his snatching ability in ringing up the points and drawing attention to his offensive power, Mancuso collaborated with the other Bear end man, Co-Captain Dale Klingensmith, to turn in two of the nicest defensive shows seen at Reilly stadium this season.

The pair were in on Copley all the way, consistently smearing runners who were far from the territory one ordinarily would expect an end to cover.

Larry Duco romped 54 yards for the first Leetonia touchdown, sparked a drive and scored the second and was a steady and dangerous ground gainer.

Dominic Impressive
Fullback Fred Dominic got the best run of the evening by dashing—at one point in the third frame—about 27 yards deep into Copley land after beautifully out-maneuvring six would be Indiana tacklers.

A penalty nullified the gain somewhat, but the run was the epoch of the night.

He also spurred beautifully in the second frame, 69 yards on a lateral from Duco for the Bears' 20th point.

Line Powerful
Jim Driscoll, Bob Kornbau, Lee Todd and Substitute Al Stumpo were tops in line play and Center Jack White proved to be a fifth man in the Copley backfield all evening.

Guy Beltempo picked himself up a score on a neat scamper for three yards in the fourth and his blocking was a major way-clearer for many a Leetonia gain.

Sammy Stumpo's effective ball handling amid the boiling "T" was as well done as any team's quarterback has done around here. The fact that Leetonia fumbled only twice during the mud-laden game, despite the intricate exchanges involved in the "T", adds import to Stumpo's show.

Indiana Ralph Coon, a high-scoring state-wide, and his mate Quinn Stumpo, another top-notch in point-getting ranks over the state, were effective defensively and threats on offense. The threats, however, failed to materialize as expected.

Boys Shine
Dick and Gene Boyer on the line for Copley were efficient, but didn't have the over-all cooperation of their mates as did the Bear forward wall men.

Copley scored early in the first quarter, marching 31 yards after Beltempo's poor four-yard boot went out on the Bear 31. Coon carried over.

Duco broke away three plays later, going 54 yards for the score to tie it up. He passed to Mancuso for the 7-6 lead.

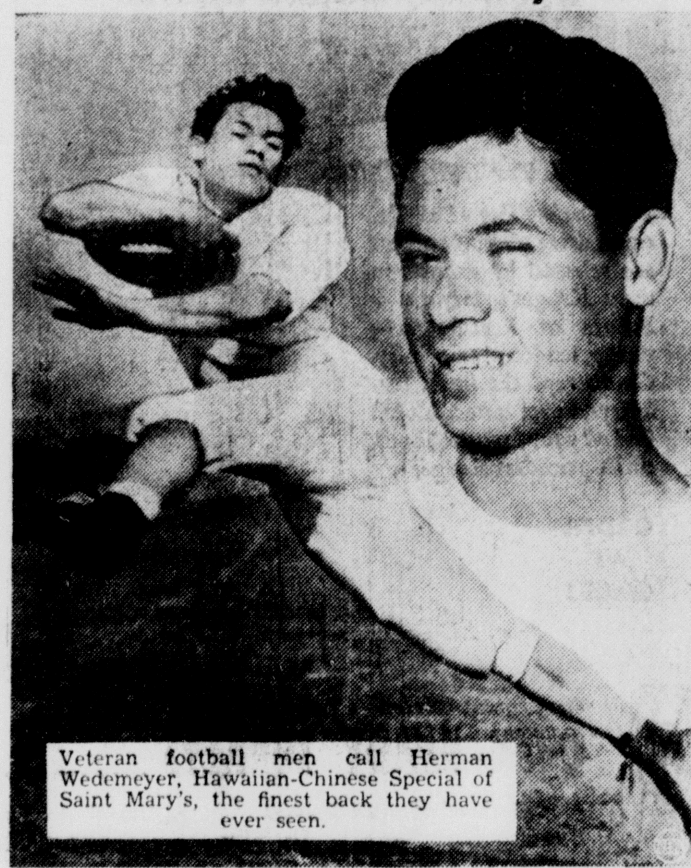

Jack White recovered a Copley fumble shortly afterwards on the Indian 31, and seven plays sent Duco from the three. Beltempo made it over center for the 14th point.

Dominic's 69-yard dash from a lateral made it 20-6 and Beltempo's right tackle smash was short for the point, midway in the second period.

Leetonia's 76-yard march to score in the third quarter was spearheaded by three completed passes. The final one, Stumpo to Mancuso covering the 29 yards to the end stripes. Stumpo brushed through center for the 27th point.

SALEM HIGH CAGE SQUAD PRACTICING FOR FIRST BATTLE

Coach Bob Miller's Boys Working In Preparation For Ravenna Opener

Salem High's Quaker basketball hopefuls, under the guidance of Robert Miller, are working out this week in preparation for their season's opener at Ravenna in two weeks.

The Quaker schedule includes 18 games, 10 at home and eight away. Six games are carded on Tuesdays during the year, 10 on Friday nights and two on Saturdays.

Coach Miller is working with his 1944 reserve squad and one or two lettermen from last season. The entire starting squad and three substitutes used with the varsity last season are missing through graduation, military service calls and transfers.

The complete 1945-46 schedule follows:

Tues. Dec. 4, at Ravenna.
Sat. Dec. 8, Columbiana.
Tues. Dec. 11, Lisbon.
Fri. Dec. 14, at Wellsville.
Fri. Dec. 28, at Canton Lehman.

RAMS, REDSKINS HAVE CHANCE TO WIN SECTIONALS

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—This is touchdown week in the National football league race with the surprising Cleveland Rams and the rollicking Washington Redskins within grasp of the Western and Eastern divisional titles, respectively.

The Rams risk their 7-1 record against the second-place Detroit Lions (6-2) in a Turkey day mix at Detroit. A Ram victory would clinch the Western diadem for Cleveland in the 10-game championship race.

The Redskins (6-1) can assure themselves of at least a tie for Eastern laurels by whipping the Philadelphia Eagles (5-2) at Philadelphia next Sunday. Once past the Eagles, Washington meets the hapless Pittsburgh Steelers and the New York Giants.

The Rams, behind the brilliant passing of Rookie Bob Waterfield, squeaked the Chicago Cardinals, 35-21, at Chicago yesterday to grab the undisputed Western leadership as the Lions stumbled 35-14 before the pass-minded Giants at New York.

The Lions must trip the Rams and Green Bay Packers to stay in the title picture.

The tail-end Chicago Bears gave the Redskins a healthy scare before Washington reverted to a classy running attack to finally triumph, 28-21.

The Eagles kept right on Washington's heels by walloping the Steelers, 30-6.

that cause for which they gave their last full measure of devotion. . . .
Was all the sacrifice of the war waste effort? It hadn't seemed so up to this point, but the Allied difficulties certainly are creating a serious situation. The consensus is that the only way to relieve this is for all the Allies to get together and table their cards—say what they want for themselves and what they don't want for the other fellows.

It is to be hoped that the atomic bomb commission of the United Nations organization can get into action in the near future to get the distrust which Russia has about this weapon. There is no question but that this is a large item in the strained relations. With that out of the way, it may be possible to deal with the other knotty problems.
